PLEASE help him.
Maidstone man Richard Plummer is fighting for his life 8,000 miles away in Bali, Indonesia. The 32-year-old traveller has spent three weeks in a coma in a poorly equipped hospital, since crashing his motorbike and suffering a severe head injury.

On Saturday his condition deteriorated so much a priest read Richard the last rites. An emergency fundraising campaign was launched to fly his elderly parents, Eric and June, out to be at his bedside. Since then the former Oldborough Manor school pupil has fought back from the brink but money is desperately needed as experts fear he will die unless he is moved to a hospital with more expertise in Australia. But Richard is not just fighting for himself - his Indonesian girlfriend Indri is nine weeks pregnant with his first child.
